

Statistical Inference for Data Analytics

Statistical inference is a tool that is used at various stages in the data analytics workflow. This talk aims to provide an introduction to statistics as applied to data analytics and various concepts associated with statistical inference.

The talk will also discuss Bayesian inference and its computational aspects in detail.